Wright, president of the Northern Pacific Railroad company, disclaims in a morning paper the intention of the company ever to ask congress for a subsidy, loan, or any form of assistance. The company considers itself able to build the road with its own resources and land grant. It seeks only a limited guarantee against confiscation.

Andrews and Jim Lackey were the slain, Langham beating them to death with clubs. Andrews in the McAndrews case returned a verdict of unjust killing, and one in the Lackey case saying he came to his death by the hands of Langham, without the expression of an opinion as to whether it was justifiable or not.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—A Chinaman was naturalized in the court of common pleas to-day.

Secretary Sherman Speaks.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Secretary Sherman has written a letter to the editors of Henry Ward Beecher's paper, the Christian Union, saying that the administration fails to prosecute the internal revenue officers imprisoned in South Carolina, indicted for murder in the case of an offender who resisted arrest for complicity with the notorious Redmond. He also states that the officers are under bonds pending a decision of the question as to the removal of the action against them to the U. S. circuit court, and that the government has done all that it can in the legitimate exercise of its legal powers to secure their release. The secretary adds: "The difficulty of enforcing the laws of the United States in South Carolina has been illustrated by the recent canvass and election in that state. Two separated bodies of men fully equipped for public meetings and bullied and browbeaten and defenceless citizens out of the franchise conferred by the constitution. Right to meet and discuss political questions and votes for the candidates of their choice. When these proceedings were not successful in their success they cheated the poor negro out of his franchise by the meanest form of ballot box stuffing. Such offences are against revenue laws. You must see that the courts for the executive officers of the United States, crippled as they are by recent legislation, to meet this formidable opposition to the execution of the laws. All the machinery of the state is to enforce the laws in the state courts, and if the machinery of the state is so corrupted by local prejudice that it cannot punish such offences, the power is already in the hands of the executive of the nation, which will not tolerate any form of rebellion against national authority. In this way a remedy will be found, and its application will be made in due proportion as the true state of the case shall be understood. The disgraceful scenes of the late canvass, at various points in that section, will but give additional strength to the feeling that all the citizens, as guaranteed by the constitution, must be secured."

Fraudulent European Wafers.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The Times says: F. Ehrlich has returned from Germany, having safely delivered in Bremen some 250,000 cases of California salmon. In addition to the 250,000 cases to Germany 100,000 were sent to the Netherlands, the same number to Belgium and 50,000 by England. This is the largest shipment Mather has made abroad of American fish eggs. These salmon eggs were packed in refrigerating boxes of Mathusius, and a temperature of 42 degrees was readily maintained. The voyage occupied 12 days, but the eggs have been kept perfectly well for fully a month at this temperature. The percentage of embryotic fish in the ova is unusually large. These eggs were taken from the Sacramento in McCloud river by Livingston in August last, and after having hatched over 6,000 miles the loss was but 10 per cent. The first American salmon hatched into Germany were those sent last year by Mather. Those fish were planted at the breeding ponds at the mouth of the Weser, and were some 3 inches long. The bulk of the fish planted in the Rhine and Elbe by the German fish culturists during the rapid development of California waters. It may be well to explain that the old name of salmon quinnat, or king salmon, caught on the Pacific coast will be replaced by that of oncorhynchus nerka, or hook-nosed. These names were adopted, by the U. S. fish commissioner, by England and France, a few years before the salmon of our rivers were derived from these American eggs of the same size. The final result is that the German fish culturists with no exception of variety. Such, however, is not the opinion in which European experts regard that there is no doubt but that the German rivers will abound with salmon.

Washington City.

The Bannock War.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—A Tribune's Washington special says: The report of the commissioner of Indian affairs will contain all the correspondence regarding the causes of the Bannock outbreak, and the case will be made the controversy between the interior department. Dispatches from the agent for the Bannocks notified the department months before its occurrence that trouble was impending. Troops were sent, after much delay, to the agency, but they found a lot of worthless Indians, and left the Indians plenty of the whisky they had secreted. Finally, the protests of the agent and the military officers of considerable rank, the troops were withdrawn, whereupon the Indians started on the warpath. Appropriations by congress were made to feed these Indians.

Snowslides.

VICTORIA, Nov. 27.—A telegram received here from Lytton reports that all Indians employed by Evans reports that all Indians employed by Evans bringing 97 wagons, arrived at the Fraser river with supplies for the Cariboo Road Closed, the Indians thus losing employment. The result of transportation. The result is very gratifying. The distance is about 25 miles.

Bannocks to be put on Reservation.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—The commissioner of Indian affairs will report the consolidation of the Bannocks with the Shoshones on the reservations to nine in number, and recommend the removal of the Indians in Colorado, Nebraska and Kansas may be removed to Indian territory; the Klamath Indians to the Yakima reservation in Washington territory, whither the Bannocks and Malheurs will be immediately sent. The commissioner of revenue appeals for a permanent title to Indian lands, and recommends the organization of 3,000 Indian cavalry, under army officers, for service near reservations. He publishes a correspondence between the agent of the Bannocks and the military, to show that the latter were well informed of the actual state of affairs in time to be prepared for hostilities, and also that the Indians received all the subsistence the funds appropriated by congress enabled the Indian office to purchase. He shows that the agent of the Cheyennes was required by law of congress to withhold supplies from Indians who would not work, which led to the outbreak of the Cheyennes. He recommends that the Umatillas in Oregon be removed to the Yakima reservation, and that the lands be sold for their benefit. The Mission and Hoopa valley agencies, California, are to be re-established. Their discontinuance was caused by the failure of congress to make appropriations.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—The secretary of the interior in his annual report refers to his recommendation of last year in regard to the Indians and says the consideration of a number of agencies has been undertaken with a view to better the location of Indians which will at the same time render more efficient supervision possible, and reduce the expenses of government and lessen the opportunities for fraud and peculation. As far as the appropriations made by congress would permit, agricultural implements and domestic cattle have been furnished to the Indian tribes to set Indians to work for their own support, and to encourage industrious habits. An Indian police has been organized at twenty-two agencies, and from all of them favorable reports as to the working of the new system have been received. Instructions have been given to discriminate in the distribution of supplies and annuities which are not actual necessaries, against individual Indians who show no disposition to work, thus discouraging idleness.

The Southern Suits.

A Tribune's Washington special says there are signs of a dead lock in the committee appropriations over the payment of supervisors of elections, and for prosecuting cases now being undertaken in the south by the department of justice. Some Democrats, as a matter of expediency, favor moderate appropriations for both these. The Republicans will fully expose South Carolina and Louisiana election frauds.

Wheeler's Surveys.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—The annual report of Lieut. Wheeler's surveys west of the 100th meridian, now going through the press, is one of the most interesting yet made. Surveys have been made by nine distinct parties over connected areas in all but one of the states and territories west of the 100th meridian. The survey this season embraces areas in California, Colorado, Nevada, Oregon, Texas, New Mexico, Utah and Washington, connecting intimately with those of former years, of which maps have been published or are in preparation. The detailed surveys of the Lake Tahoe region and Washoe mining district, of which maps on scales of one inch to one mile and one inch to 10,000 feet respectively, are in course of construction and receive special notice in this report. In the descriptive mining notes contained therein, the character of the special survey of the Comstock lode is indicated.

Increase of Mail Service in Oregon.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Orders have been issued for increased mail service in Oregon as follows: From the Dalles to Baker City, increased from semi-weekly to tri-weekly. Investigation of the Cipher Dispatch Business.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—There is at last a definite plan agreed upon about the investigation of the cipher dispatches. Two weeks ago Singleton, of Mississippi, came to this city and had a consultation with Springer, of Illinois, for the purpose of devising some plan of preventing the reporters from making any more capital out of the dispatches. Correspondence was had with Clarkson N. Potter upon the subject, and a day or two ago Springer went to New York for the purpose of consulting with him and other prominent Democrats. The result of this conference is not known here. Mr. Springer is charged with the resolution asking that an investigation be ordered into the matters charged in Republican newspapers, and that Whitelaw Reid be summoned as the first witness, to tell how and where he obtained the dispatches that he has published. This resolution is to be offered on the first day it can properly come before congress. It is arranged in such a way that there can be no opposition. Randall has been notified, and he will of course recognize the Democrats first. It is said that Ben Butler has a magazine of small dispatches damaging to both sides, which he will present to the disposal of congress.

Butler Says he has some Cipher Dispatches.

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—The Journal's Washington dispatch says that southern congressmen claim to have assurance that Butler has many cipher dispatches sent by Republican leaders in 1876 of a very compromising character which he will lay before the Potter committee.

Poor Sammy.

Not one Democrat arrived here favors Tilden for 1880.

Russell, who succeeds Waddell (Dem.) in North Carolina states that he will not go into the caucus, but will vote with the greenbackers. He favors paying all the southern war claims and pensioning rebels the same as union soldiers.

The Captain of the Pomerania Saved.

Captain Pritchard's Statement.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Captain Pritchard, of the bark Noel Elkan, is very reticent and refuses to show his "log." He says he was going down the channel at 5 knots an hour. He was on the deck of the Noel Elkan, had been sounding for fog horn all night until the steamer's lights were visible. The collision occurred almost before those on board the Noel Elkan were aware. The blow was a glancing one, and the bark was cut off, and he did not again see the steamer. Capt. Pritchard thought he was sinking. The Noel Elkan was too much disabled to render any assistance. Seven feet of her bows was carried away, her lights were burning brightly at the time. She was sailing free on the starboard tack. The Pomerania ran across her bows and came into the port bow, turning her around completely, and then went away at full speed. He was not aware that the Pomerania had sunk until he arrived at Folkestone.

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Alma Wessel, New York; Louise Rossman, Philadelphia; Amelia Newman, New York, and Sophie Hoeltzman remained at the Sailors' Home in Dover last night. One child, Martha Miller, aged four years, says she is the daughter of a sea captain, now at Buenos Ayres. The child adds that her mother, sister Dora, and brother Allie were on board the Pomerania.

THURSDAY MORNING NOV 28 1878

UNWISE AGITATION

Several of the extreme partisan organs of Democracy are making themselves very unhappy over a recent observation by THE OREGONIAN to the effect that a solid south will produce a solid north It is clear that this is a feature of the case which they do not like to contemplate In their shortsightedness they rejoice that all opposition has been suppressed in the south and that in more than one hundred districts in that section there is not a break in the Democratic congressional delegation Can they expect that this formidable political demonstration will be unheeded at the north? In view of past experience it is the most natural thing in the world for a majority of northern people to suspect the tendency and purposes of a political movement which exhibits energy and power so great Men do not act without motives In the late elections there was no pressure from without upon the southern states For two years there has been nothing which could be construed as an act of northern interference Every feature of a policy which could give color to any complaint of that kind long since was abandoned Yet the dominant party of the south is now more resolute and energetic than ever in its purpose to wield all the power of that section as a solid political force, and to give no tolerance to any organized opposition We have not expected it to do otherwise Perhaps in view of the long political struggle of which the civil war was a part it is not natural it should But those who suppose that this display of energy and antagonism in that section will not produce corresponding results in the north are very shallow observers of political causes and events So formidable a demonstration of hostility to the Republican party will arouse that party to the strongest possible effort By furnishing a common cause of action it will harmonize and consolidate all its elements A fierce antagonism everywhere begets its opposite. Southern politicians and northern politicians who sympathize with southern purposes should be able to see this Sectional division of parties is a thing to be regretted But when the south organizes every district in every one of its states in that way and manifests its purpose to tolerate no opposition north a people who have different views of politics have no choice but to combine to meet it. Those partisan journals which rejoice over a solid south, if they had a true sagacity, would rather deplore it since nothing is more certain than that the south cannot pursue this system of politics without begetting by that very course a northern antagonism

NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD

The dispatch to day relative to the Northern Pacific railroad indicates that the company, wearied and disappointed with past experience in seeking favorable legislation, will now press the matter no further but will endeavor to stand on the rights and franchises it already holds and build the road as it may be able. The land grant, it is now assumed and perhaps conceded, can be held by the company without further legislation All it asks is that no act be passed by congress to take the grant away The company repudiates the Mitchell bill as passed by the senate at the last session, and seeing no chance of reaching an accommodation it only proposes now to hold the rights it already possesses or rights forfeited The Chicago Tribune of the 15th reports that the company is again soliciting proposals for the construction of 200 miles from Bismarck to the Yellowstone river in 1879. The president of the company now confidently declares that they will be able to go on, even without further aid This conclusion is the result of a careful examination of the company's rights under the old charter, from which it is deduced that the grant can still be held, and as it is not believed that any act can be got through congress to divest the company of its rights assurances are received that money can be obtained on a pledge of the lands It will be observed that this leaves Oregon without assurance of the road on the south side of the Columbia river By a proper course a year ago we might have obtained such assurance, but our interests were misrepresented and our chances thrown away The dullest among us will find all this out at last.

THANKSGIVING

In compliance with the recommendations of the national executive and the governors of the several states the people of the whole country will to day meet around their hearths and altars to acknowledge their gratitude to a beneficent Providence for life, for peace, for plenty generally diffused, and for the blessings of free government This is a day on which all persons, without distinction of sect or creed, who acknowledge a Higher Power, can unite in thanksgiving In this respect the present occasion differs from every other, for other festival or thanksgiving days are appointed and observed by different sects or orders, but this one may be commemorated by the whole people—by all who recognize the Supreme under any designation, Jehovah, Jove, or Lord ' On this point the proclamation of our governor is extremely and unusually liberal Every one may fill in the blank as he may think fit There is a prevailing pessimism that finds little to be thankful for and delights in it. But this is rather a perversity of temper which takes pleasure in being miserable, than anything else. On the whole it would appear that people of Oregon have about as much to be thankful for as anybody else, and the day no doubt will be generally observed.

It is an indication of the greatness of Russia's purpose with regard to Asia and her advance toward India that she has projected a scheme to return the river Oxus to its ancient course causing it to flow into the Caspian sea instead of the sea of Aral This is to be accomplished by the destruction of an immense dam thrown across the river near Khiva by some convulsion of nature in times preceding the dawn of history The object is to open a practicable military route for a distance of 560 miles, which heretofore has been impassable for want of water It is admitted by English journals that this project, if accomplished, would so change the position of Russia in Asia as to greatly increase her power of action.

A writer in Scribner's for December presents the other side of the narrow gauge railroad question The object of the argument is to show that narrow gauge roads except on limited plans and for merely local traffic, are not economical Unless such roads reach terminal stations, so that transfer is unnecessary, the expense of doing business in connection with other roads becomes very serious The writer also undertakes to show that there is a tendency to exaggerate the cost of standard gauge roads their equipment and operation and at the same time to depreciate the cost of construction equipment and operation of narrow gauge roads In a country like our own where the great local need is roads leading to the navigable water courses it is apparent, however that the narrow gauge will do excellent service But the suggestion made in our legislature that congress should aid the construction of the remainder of the Northern Pacific on the narrow gauge plan was quite absurd A plan which is eminently practicable under many conditions for local roads would fail to answer the requirements of the traffic pressing upon a great through line

Dispatches state that there will be a further concentration of Indians at Yakima reservation Several bands which the government has on its hands are to be removed thither This action will be bitterly criticised and opposed by the people of that locality and with much reason The Indians who participated in the hostilities of last summer ought to be removed to a distance There is great reason to fear that a combination of untoward events and foolish actions will lead to a graver difficulty than any our people have ever yet experienced It would seem as if all the complications and evils of the Indian situation east of the Cascades were rapidly drawing to a head

The San Francisco Chronicle, taking for its text the recent deal in mining stocks declaims at length against the whole thing as a swindle which it sums up thus The game of stocks is a game of fraud and deceit The inside few armed with cash and facts play against the outside multitude misled by false reports and unfortunately too credulous Some of the latter must be allowed to win occasionally, or the game would die out

London has resolved to try the new system of electric light on a magnificent scale That great city will not be outdone by Paris The future of street lighting belongs to electricity As the London Times says of gas If as a method of illumination it is destined to go the way of the rush light and tallow candle we shall hardly regret it any more than we regretted its rude and clumsy predecessors

Secretary Sherman's letter on violation of the revenue laws and on outrages upon citizens rights in the southern states has pith and point And just because it reaches the marrow of the subject he will be most bitterly assailed by a partisanship opposed to his own

In many parts of the country the business of robbing graves is becoming a public disgrace But no set of body-snatchers will ever disturb the deep repose of the members of Oregon's late state administration After life's swamp land fever they sleep well

Services at church in the morning, and then roast turkey and pumpkin pie

THANKSGIVING DAY

For centuries it has been the custom of men to appoint a day of Thanksgiving for any great good that has fallen to their lot The right of the observance of festivals or anniversary which we commemorate by the celebration of to-day though perhaps suggested by the Hebrew feast of tabernacles or feast of ingathering at the end of the year has its origin in New England The Pilgrims landed in Massachusetts in 1620 At the close of the harvest the next year 1621 Governor Bradford sent four men fowling that they might after a manner rejoice together and as turkeys were the fowls to be found there they are the only birds suitable to grace the table now but there and which hangs the most tempting lot The colonists had been ten years later 1631 Dorchester in a starving condition the weak Colonists in varying moods only a handful of settlers were gathered near the Massachusetts Bay Massachusetts All bout them was an unbroken forest, teeming with savage enemies The crops had failed Death by famine seemed the best lot The governor appointed a day of fasting and prayer to the appointed day the Indian Colonists were going to their place of worship they saw coming into the harbor a ship freighted with supplies The astonished settlers changed from a fast to a feast The people seem to have celebrated the day at every returning season and there is record of the 30th day of November of days of thanksgiving in Massachusetts Bay in 1633 1634 1637 1638 and 1639

On occasion Thanksgiving days were appointed by the Dutch governors in New York and by the English governors in 1760 During the revolution Thanksgiving day was a national institution then annually recommended by Congress but after the general Thanksgiving for peace in 1781 there was no national observance of the day till 1789, when President Washington on the request of Congress recommended a day of Thanksgiving for the adoption of the constitution Washington s proclamation of Thanksgiving, issued in 1795 on account of the unsuccessful issue of Indian affairs, was not followed by any President Madison by request of Congress recommended Thanksgiving for peace in 1814

In New England however belongs the distinction of officially observing Thanksgiving Day with religious ceremonies The day there for more than a hundred years has been the main holiday more renowned and more sacredly observed than Christmas

In New York the day has been annually observed since 1817 In 1855 Governor Johnson of Virginia recommended a day for Thanksgiving but in 1857 Governor Wise refused to do so publicly declined claiming that he had no authority to interfere in religious matters In 1858 Thanksgiving proclamations were issued by the governors of eight of the northern states The day has been officially recognized as a holiday since 1863 when President Lincoln issued his proclamation for a national Thanksgiving Custom has fixed the last Thursday in November as the day to be observed though other days have been recognized

AMUSEMENTS.

CALENDERS MINSTRELS.—Callender s famous Georgia Minstrels are passengers on the steamer and will arrive here Saturday The Callenders will remain for a short season at New Market Theater next Monday evening The New York Herald in speaking of these Minstrels says The Georgias far excel their darker imitators in many points The new melodies and in them the finest interpretations They have a wealth of plantation sayings you look in vain for among the more pretentious delineators of negro characters The little extravaganzas are very rich in their fidelity to negro life and they are full of natural rollicking humor which there is no taint of vulgarity Their audience was a large and fashionable one who were enthusiastic over their performances

MR. MAYO AT NEW MARKET.—To night Mr Frank Mayo makes his last appearance in his great creation of Badger in the streets of New York That Mr Mayo is the greatest Badger on the American stage is only to express what is conceded by the press and public of all the principal cities of this country So far as the putting on of the play is concerned it might with some degree of justice be said that The Streets of New York is played for the first time in this city for at no previous time much and often as it has been put on the boards has there been such an elaborate scenic display as in the present instance The scenic effects we understand cost the management about six hundred dollars Mr Mayo himself confessed that in the city of Boston where the piece was put on for a run of several weeks it was not better put on than now at the New Market Theater and at the same time payed a very high compliment to the company supporting him John Maguire has most certainly created a revolution in theatrical affairs in this city He has raised the theater from a barn stinking affair to the level of a first class theater as his enterprise and energy are manifest In the production of every play placed on the boards under his supervision he is the only manager that thought Portland worthy of something beyond mediocrity, and no doubt our citizens appreciate his efforts in this direction Mr Mayo s engagement is drawing to a close and those who can appreciate a great actor as Mr Mayo undoubtedly is will not fail availing themselves of the opportunity of witnessing those great creations of his which are familiar in our months as household words To night Badger for the last time To-morrow night he appears in Hamlet Saturday matinee, in his great character of Geoffrey Delmayne in Man and Wife and Saturday night To-day there will be a grand thanksgiving matinee at 2 30 P M

DR. BRENAN.

His Wonderful Success

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

Chronic and Private Diseases.

He has astonished the People of this Coast by his skillful Operations.

HE HAS TAUGHT IN HIS

public and private lectures the true principles of health and life to both male and female He has also warned them against habits that would be likely to produce disease in plain and comprehensive language But where he has found them crushed and broken down by disease mentally and physically he has restored them to health and happiness for it is well understood that without health there can be no happiness.

has made a specialty in the treatment of the following diseases Catarrh Bronchitis and all diseases of the throat and chest by an entirely new system only known to himself Diseases of the kidneys and Urinary Organs including Spermatorrhea Seminal Weakness or premature loss of Manhood In the treatment of these diseases he has made a world-wide reputation by his astonishing success not only on this Coast but throughout the whole United States Diseases of the stomach bowels liver and kidneys as well as all diseases of the blood and skin he has become master of and never fails to give relief at once and permanently cures the case if he is applied to in time to ladies only for years and is perfectly familiar with all female complaints and understands their delicate and refined organization as well as the proper remedies which should be used to allay their suffering and restore them to perfect health

THE DOCTOR HAS GIVEN SPECIAL LECTURES

THE DOCTOR HAS THIS ADVANTAGE over most physicians—he can tell the patients disease the moment he comes in contact with them without any aid from the individual This he counts in part for his great professional success

All surgical operations can be performed by his skilful hand and the patient need not fear the result will send to those living at a distance and who cannot well visit his office a list of Printed Questions and by the answers when filled out he can tell the disease as well as the proper treatment almost as well as seeing the patient personally and will forward the proper medicines, or instruments to any part of the country with full instructions and advice. Each letter requiring advice or list of questions, must contain two postage stamps

Everything strictly confidential and honorable

THE DOCTOR

has studied in the best Medical Schools in Europe and three years in the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia as more than one of the Medical men of the Medical Faculty in this State can testify

CAUTION.

Persons coming to Portland, requiring medical treatment of the proper kind who desire to consult with me, will please beware of persons who may try to coax them away to other so-called Doctors through pretended friendship for the patients Look out for them they are knaves prompted by selfish motives and what they can make. Be sure and ask for DR. PAUL M BRENAN the Medical Lecturer and read his sign on his door
